

Stephen G. Engle
Consultant

“Learning is a lifetime process, and the privilege of providing learning is not to be taken lightly.”

– Stephen G. Engle, Consultant, TRI Corporation

Leadership/Industry Expertise

Stephen G. Engle, a consultant with TRI Corporation, is founder and owner of Engle Business Solutions, Inc. Steve provides development and delivery of executive financial training. His services are directed towards the maximizing of profit from operations. His expertise is in the establishment and growth of profitable small business startups. Steve also has extensive teaching and executive financial training experience.

Clients

Clients include General Electric (GE), Goldman Sachs, Microsoft, Praxair, Unilever and UOP.

Bio

Prior to joining TRI Corp., Steve worked as an operations manager for GE's aerospace group which eventually became Lockheed Martin. He managed the installation and service of large radar systems internationally. He had profit/loss responsibility for installations in Alaska, Canada, and several countries in the Middle East. He was site manager of a dual U.S. Turkish military base in eastern Turkey and provided services to operate and maintain two surveillance radar systems. Steve has extensive teaching and training experience. He joined GE after receiving his BS and entered GE's advanced engineering class. Upon graduation, he became an instructor of the course. Continuing education has always been a part of Steve's professional development. He was fortunate to attend many GE training classes over the course of his GE career.

Positions Held

- Owner, Engle Business Solutions, Inc. (current)
- Operations Manager for GE's aerospace group, which later became Lockheed Martin

Accomplishments & Awards

As site manager of GE's dual U.S. Turkish military base in eastern Turkey, Steve operated and maintained two surveillance radar systems. Under Steve's management, there was zero downtime due to lack of resources, including replacement parts and operators.

Education

- MBA, with an emphasis in international marketing and finance, Syracuse University
- Master of Science, Electrical Engineering, Syracuse University
- Bachelor of Science, Pennsylvania State University

Personal

Steve is an active volunteer in the Lancaster, Pennsylvania chapter of SCORE, which provides pro bono consultation to America's small business community. Steve's area of expertise in SCORE is the establishment and growth of profitable small business startups.